Unlikely Duo!

A surefire way to make a story funny is to write about two characters who are OPPOSITES but have to work together to accomplish a goal. This unlikely duo might struggle with their task in a way that is really funny.

DRAW two characters that are OPPOSITES in some way, and create some details that make them unique. Then, give them a goal they have to complete. Maybe you'll discover an unlikely reason they are actually great at accomplishing that goal. You can take this outline and write an amazing buddy comedy story!

	Character 2's Name: Character 2 is a: Character 2 is good at: Character 2 is not good at:

How do the two characters know each other?

What is a goal or task the two characters need to complete? Why?

What is the reason they are suprisingly GOOD at doing it?

WRITE: Now write a story where the two Characters have to complete their task. What happens along the way? Do they finish the task? What happens next?
